- William Stanley ("Bill" or "Maz") Mazeroski★
 2B. (B: Sept. 5, 1936, Wheeling, WV). Pittsburgh (NL), 1956–1972. Remarks: Had 2,016 hits (138 homers) and 27 stolen bases in 2,163 games in 17 Pirate seasons; set several fielding records; remembered for homer in Game Seven of 1960 World Series; coach, Pittsburgh (NL), 1973; coach, Seattle (AL), 1979–1982; minor league instructor, Montreal (NL), 1983–1985; named to Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame in 1985; uniform number 9 retired by Pirates in 1987; elected to National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2001, where his plaque reads: "A defensive wizard whose hard-nosed hustle and quiet work ethic helped lead the Pirates to three division titles, two pennants and a pair of World Series championships. An eight-time gold glove winner and a 10-time All-Star renowned for his lightning-quick pivot on the double play, turning 100 or more in 11 consecutive years. His 1,706 career twin killings is a record among middle infielders. Also ranks in the top 10 among second basemen in assists, putouts and games played. His dramatic home run in Game Seven at Forbes Field propelled the pirates to the 1960 World Championship."

2B-MGR. (B: Nov. 1, 1859, Massena, NY-D: Jan. 3, 1943). Cincinnati (AA), 1882–1889; Cincinnati (NL), 1890–1899. Remarks: Obtained 2,250 hits (15 homers) and 568 stolen bases in 18 playing years; had record 529 putouts in 1886; A. A. home run champion — with seven, 1886; did not wear glove until 1896; manager, Cincinnati (NL), 1901–1902, winning 79 games and losing 124 (.389); elected to National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2000, where his plaque reads: "One of the 19th Century's premier second basemen, he was a standout fielder despite playing barehanded for most of his 18-year career. The last second baseman to play without a glove, he regularly led the league in double plays, fielding average, assists and putouts. Playing with a glove for the first time in 1896, his fielding average was .982, a mark that stood for 29 years. A skilled leadoff hitter, he compiled 2,250 hits and topped the 100-run mark 10 times, including a career-best 139 in 1886. Known for his sober disposition and exemplary sportsmanship."
