George Lee ("Sparky") Anderson★

2B–MGR–BROADCASTER. (B. Feb. 22, 1934, Bridgewater, SD). Philadelphia (NL), 1959. Remarks: Manager, Cincinnati (NL), 1970–1978 and Detroit (AL), 1979–1995; first pilot to win 100 victories and the World Series in each league; coach, San Diego (NL), 1969; broadcaster, California (AL), 1997; elected to National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2000, where his plaque reads: "One of the game's most successful and colorful managers. His 2,194 wins rank third in history behind Connie Mack and John McGraw. The crank that turned the Big Red Machine. His skillful leadership helped those Cincinnati teams dominate in the 1970s. Revered and treasured by his players for his humility, humanity, eternal optimism and knowledge of the game. Baseball's only manager to win a World Series in both leagues and lead two franchises in victories. His teams won three World Series, seven Division titles, and five pennants, compiling a .619 post-season winning percentage."

Albert Benjamin ("Happy") Chandler★

POLITICIAN-EXEC. (B: July 14, 1898, Corydon, KY-D: June 15, 1991). Remarks: Prominent politician and the second Commissioner of Baseball; disliked by owners and permitted only one term; elected to National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1982 where his plaque reads: "Baseball's second Commissioner, 1945–1951. United States Senator (1939–1945). Governor of Kentucky (1935–39, 1955–59). Iron-willed and honest, he was known as a 'Player's Commissioner' because of his broad concern for all phases of the game."

C. (B: Dec. 26, 1948, Bellows Falls, VT). Boston (AL), 1969, 1971–1980; Chicago (AL), 1981–1993. Obtained 2,356 hits (378 homers) and 128 stolen bases in 2,499 games in 24 seasons; AL Rookie of the Year award, 1972; hit .417 in 1975 ALCS; had two homers in 1975 World Series, including dramatic shot in Game Six; hit for the cycle, May 16, 1984; named to Boston Red Sox Hall of Fame, May 2000; elected to National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2000, where his plaque reads: "A commanding figure behind the plate for a record 24 seasons, he caught more games (2,226) and hit more home runs (351) than any catcher before him. His gritty resolve and competitive fire earned him the respect of teammates and opposing players alike. A staunch training regimen extended his durability and enhanced his productivity—as evidenced by a record 72 home runs after age 40. His dramatic home run to win Game Six of the 1975 World Series is one of baseball's unforgettable moments. Was the 1972 American League Rookie of the Year and an 11-time All-Star."
